£50 brown bin charge step closer

AN "excessive" £50 charge to have garden waste recycled could soon come into force after the county council approved a new brown bin scheme.

Suffolk County Council has given the green light to a new partnership for residents who want their garden waste collected.

It is hoped the new scheme, entitled the Suffolk Waste Partnership, would save the county council £2million a year by encouraging people to attempt home composting instead.

However, district councils St Edmundsbury and Forest Heath have still to decide whether they will opt into the partnership or continue to provide a free collection service.

Cllr Betty McLatchy, Haverhill Town Mayor, said: "I'm not against the charges because I have seen them work in other areas.

"But I think £50 is far too much. It's excessive. A fee of about £10 or £20 is more reasonable.

"I think the council should look into it again and look at the cost because this is exorbitant."

She added: "For people without big gardens, there should be the option of sharing either the cost or the composting."

A spokesman for St Edmundsbury and Forest Heath district councils said: "We are reviewing our options as part of our budget-setting across all of our services."

A charged collection scheme for garden waste, which in some areas includes food waste, is already in place in Babergh and Mid Suffolk.

Cllr Clive Arthey, Suffolk Waste Partnership chairman, said: "The Suffolk Waste Partnership has made great strides towards joint working over the last 16 years but there are service areas where significant differences still remain."

LIFE-SAVERS:
Picture: Keith Heppell

Crash survivor thanks crew who saved him

A MAN who was involved in a serious car crash just over two years ago which left him in a coma for a month, has met some of the medics who he credits with saving his life.

Dean Osborne, of Elmdon Place, Haverhill, was in Addenbrooke's for four months after the crash in West Watlington on May 17, 2013, which left him with a serious head injury, broken ribs, arm and collar bone and internal bleeding.

The 28-year-old, who was a passenger in his friend Ian Svenson's van, had to have his spleen removed following the crash which tragically killed the driver of the other car, a man in his 20s.

Dean is likely to be disabled for the rest of his life, but has made great strides since the accident.

Yesterday, Dean met East of England Ambulance Service staff Jo Goodman, Steven Humphrey and Ben Caine, a critical care paramedic, at the ambulance station at Addenbrooke's to thank them for their care.

The sign maker was travelling back from Cambridge on evening of the crash after working with Ian.

"I can't remember anything from that night," he said. "I just wanted to thank the crew for being there. They saved my life. It's nice to meet them, I never knew who was at the scene."

Dean, who was transferred to Blackheath Brain Injury Rehabilitation Centre where he now goes once a week, is not sure if he will ever fully recover from the crash.

His brain injury meant he had to learn how to walk and talk again. In the last couple of months he has started to walk with the help of a stick.

He is going to start work at Workwise in Bury St Edmunds, a social enterprise providing work-based training and specialist employment support for adults - and hopes to street dance again.

"Over the past year it has been very hard at times, but I am still working on my walking and I am getting there," he added. "I have to slow down a bit to get words out and sometimes if people talk too quickly I get a bit lost.

"I feel a lot better than I used to, I've been through a lot of pain and a lot of different emotions. My neuro-physiologist is not sure if I will make a full recovery but I'm getting there slowly but surely."

Crew member Ben, who arrived in an East Anglian Air Ambulance car on that evening, said the scene was "complete carnage" when they arrived.

"The two vehicles were surrounded in the middle of the field by a ditch, it was quite challenging to get to the scene," he said.

"We had three critically injured patients all that needed our attention. Everybody worked really well as a team to look after the three critically injured patients."

Ben said it was great to see Dean back on his feet again.

"It's really satisfying to meet him," he added. "His injuries were really severe. We were not sure he would make it. To see him walk in and getting back to almost normal it's really nice to see."

MP celebrates top marks for pre-school

HAVERHILL'S MP joined toddlers at Stepping Stones Under 5s after the nursery was marked 'outstanding' by Ofsted.

Matthew Hancock said: "It is always a pleasure to visit the excellent Stepping Stones, but today's visit was especially good.

"This is testament to the hard work and commitment of Elaine McManus and her team. I am delighted that this has been given the recognition it deserves by Ofsted. It is always wonderful when local groups get rewarded for their hard work and I look forward to seeing them go from strength to strength."

SPACE EXPLORATION

Could this be the proof we've been waiting for?

SEEING THE LIGHT: Does this attempt to capture a pretty Norfolk sunset actually capture a UFO – and the wormhole it came from?

A HOLIDAY snap has been hailed the "best UFO picture that's ever been taken".

The photograph of a Norfolk sunset was taken by a Haverhill man to use as his screensaver to remind him of his holiday – but his cousin believes he has captured a UFO, possibly carrying intelligent life, and the worm hole from where it came.

The images were released by the man's cousin, Andrew Leach, after reading in our sister paper Cambridge News about the £64 million project, backed by Cambridge physicist Prof Stephen Hawking, to search for intelligent life.

Two pictures were taken at Hemsby in Norfolk shortly after 9pm during the summer solstice on June 21.

The photographer, who did not want to be named, said: "I have no idea if it's a UFO or not but I'd like it to be analysed. I wouldn't like to say either way but it's certainly got me thinking."

Andrew, from Burwell, believes the picture shows a UFO in the centre with the worm hole it emerged from in the top left of the image.

GARETH MCPHERSON
@GarethMcP_CN

The 46-year-old said: "He was only trying to get a picture of a sunset to use as a screensaver and he got the best UFO picture that's ever been taken."

Prof Hawking has teamed up with Russian billionaire Yuri Milner for the Breakthrough Initiatives project, which is dedicated to finding extra-terrestrial life over the next 10 years.

It has been billed the biggest search for aliens undertaken by humans and involves scouring the entire Milky Way and 100 nearby galaxies.

Mr Milner, a technology investor, claims the project would gather more information in one day than in a year of previous research.

People have been reporting UFO sightings in the skies over the region for centuries. Here are some of them:

■ Tom Freeman reported he had two UFO encounters by the age of 9. The first in November 1984 was near his home in Hope Street, Cambridge, when he noticed a "moon-size bright orange sphere floating, making no noise at all". The second was of a UFO "the size and shape of a beer barrel", which was spotted near St Philip's School in Cambridge.

■ In August 1994, three teenagers sitting in Romsey recreation ground told the News they saw "strange movements" from a mysterious aircraft, which they described as pinpricks zipping forwards and backwards, that were "defying the laws of physics".

■ Some 50 objects, each emitting a single orange light, gathered over Duxford before heading directly upwards, according to a report from April 2007.

■ In August 2009, a retired merchant seaman said he saw objects that looked like gliders flying around in an anti-clockwise direction above Hauxton.

■ A pilot approaching Stansted Airport reported to the MOD seeing a UFO in the sky in April 2003. The Ryanair captain said he saw a "ball of fire, very bright, no colour" passing "very quickly" down the left side of his plane, at the same altitude.

COURT

Suspect denies assault on young girl

A HAVERHILL man has said that he never carried out sex offences on a child, a court heard.

Christopher Phillips, of Wellington Terrace, Haverhill, is accused of sexually assaulting a young girl between 1999 and 2004.

The 42-year-old denies two counts of indecent assault on a child and one count of sexual assault on a child.

The girl first disclosed the abuse to her mother in 2004, Cambridge Crown Court heard. In 2010, the alleged victim also told her psychiatrist she had been abused. The matter was then reported to police in 2013 and Phillips was arrested.

The trial continues.

LEGAL

Nearest court faces closure

HAVERHILL'S nearest magistrates' court could be axed under government plans meaning suspects may have to make an 120-mile round trip to have their case heard.

Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court is one of 91 "surplus" courts across the country earmarked for closure.

If approved, the plans could see the court's workload moved to Ipswich, 47 miles away, or Norwich which is a 63.8-mile drive from Haverhill.

For residents without use of a car, this could mean a bus and train journey of up to three hours to attend either court.

The proposal is part of a Ministry of Justice (MOJ) consultation which could see 57 magistrates' courts, 19 county courts and two crown courts close across the country.

The MOJ document states: "The estate costs taxpayers around half a billion pounds each year, and at present, it is underused. Last year over a third of all courts and tribunals were empty for more than 50 per cent of their available hearing time." The consultation ends on October 8.

CUTE babies and pooches of all shapes and sizes strutted their stuff in Haverhill on Sunday.

The town's annual Summer Bash took over the town's recreation ground and, as ever, was a huge hit with families.

There was a baby show, cake show, flower show and dog show for visitors to enjoy, as well as circus entertainment, live music, fairground rides, bouncy castles, children's games, family sporting activities and stalls galore.

Visitors also had their taste buds tickled with a 'food of the world' event at the bash.

This year's event, which was free, was raising money for LAMP H Parent and Toddler Group, the town's Scouts and Guides, Haverhill Community First Responders and the Salvation Army.

David Doughty, one of the main organisers, said: "The sun was shining and everyone was smiling – it was a great day and everybody appeared to be enjoying themselves."

"We hope to have raised lots of money for our charities."

The event also marked the launch of the Haver5 – the first ever Summer Bash Fun Run.

The run was organised by HaverSports.

Give skaters a decent park

AS a parent of a child who has used the Howe Road skate park for many years, I felt I had to respond to the letter published in the weekly news dated 9th July "time to shut the skate park".

I know the park has been a concern for many years but if we take it away then what? Where do they go? Hang around the town centre? Tesco's foyer? Where else is there in Haverhill, that the youngsters can go and hang out with like-minded people, learning new tricks whether it be on scooters/skateboards or BMXs? The problem is not with the skate park being used in the way it was intended to but the way it is used after dark. With no lighting it makes it the ideal place to be misused. Why would the riders smash glass when all that is going to happen is they get punctures?

Which is exactly what happened on the weekend of the 4th July – they tried to sweep it up as much as they could but in the end it resulted in me taking my son and his friends across to Wickhambrook's skate park for the afternoon.

I have, in the past, also gone along with my broom to clear up broken glass and you can see from the riders' response that it was not their doing. Perhaps it's time to get Haverhill an indoor skate park.

As is so often published, Haverhill is growing and if ran properly this would bring people into the town and in return spend their money here (although I do not think we have adequate shops but that is a rant for another time!)

A fine example of one is Corby, it is a fantastic set up, ran as a charity, fully staffed and fully used. I often take my son over there with friends – a bit of a hike but well worth it.

For those of you interested in trying to make a difference follow Haverhill Skatepark on Twitter or Facebook and fill in their survey.

As for the litter and the human excrement – totally unacceptable.

Lots of advice for sufferers

WITH holiday season approaching many of the 3.3 million people living with diabetes in the UK will be looking forward to a break in the sunshine or planning a long weekend away. If you or your child has diabetes the condition will be going on your holiday with you, but there's no reason for it to slow anyone down provided you do some preparation. Diabetes UK has loads of useful travel advice at diabetes.org.uk/travel including handy tips about carrying a letter from your doctor, packing extra medication and splitting supplies into separate bags. Other suggestions include taking a letter from your diabetes team which explains your condition when you check in to an airport and carrying a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) if you are travelling to a European Union member country – this will ensure you have easy access to healthcare in that country. There is also detailed information about how to plan ahead to avoid any issues with airports and airlines.

For people living with Type 2 diabetes, Diabetes UK's online e-learning programme, 'Type 2 Diabetes and Me', includes a whole section about how to manage your condition while on holiday. This resource can be accessed for free at type2diabetesandme.co.uk. For more information and advice you can also call Diabetes UK's Carline on 0345 123 2399.

In the meantime, I'd like to wish everyone a safe journey and a wonderful holiday.

U3A talk, The history of Marshall of Cambridge

Terry Holloway, now historian and MD of Cambridge Aeroclub, began his talk by showing a slide of the Brunswick Motor Company, a chauffeur drive business set up by David Gregory Marshall in 1909 in Brunswick Gardens in Cambridge. David had worked as a chef and was a very successful catering steward of the prestigious Pitt Club. He had seen an opportunity of offering the rich members of the Pitt Club secure transport home and foresaw the future for a motor car business which expanded rapidly. New premises were sought in Kings Street and in 1912 another move to Jesus Lane, where the garage dealing in Austin cars, for which he had the first dealership agreement, operated until 2000. David Marshall's son, Arthur (later to become Sir Arthur) was born in 1903. He became interested in engineering and flying at a very early age. His father helped repair the airship and in the First World War became involved with the servicing and repair of military vehicles and the ambulances in Cambridge. Arthur learned to fly after obtaining a first class honours degree in engineering from Jesus College and partnered his father to open a new aerodrome, close to the family home, forming a flying school to train pilots in 1929. Arthur was a talented athlete, competing for inclusion in the 1924 Olympics in Paris, and showed great entrepreneurial skill in extending his father's business to include modifications and servicing of aircraft in addition to vehicles which by the 1930s included ambulances, fire fighting appliances and military equipment. He also devised a training method for pilots which is used to this day. In 1937, a large area of farmland was purchased and the new airport opened as "Teversham Airport", (now Cambridge International Airport) with the very first public showing of the Spitfire. At the beginning of WW2, Marshall was a major contractor for servicing and repair of aircraft, and also for training over 20,000 pilots during wartime. After the war, the company continued servicing and converting aircraft and provided specialist vehicles. Michael Marshall, company chairman at the 2009 centenary celebration, and Knighted in 2010, is credited with the expansion of the car franchise business now dealing with 75 outlets selling 24 brands throughout the country, continuing with the original chauffeuring activity and Robert, his son headed up the special vehicle division employing 250 people to turn over an impressive £250M until 2013, when he became Group CEO. The next meeting of U3A will be on 28 July at the Arts Centre, starting at 10.30am, with a talk by Peter Vince entitled The Woodland Trust. John Matthews

HISTORY

Remember prisoners of war with guided walk

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

IN September 1945, the wait was finally over for the families of more than 30 Haverhill men.

Soldiers from the town who had been captured by the Japanese in the Second World War began to be repatriated.

There had been long periods of waiting for the families at home, not knowing what had happened after their loved ones were taken prisoner in 1942.

The horrors the prisoners had undergone were even worse. Many were put into forced labour building the Burma-Thailand Railway.

Twelve men from Haverhill died while being held as prisoners of war. One was Harry Peter Ashard, whose parents owned a confectionery shop in Haverhill's Queen Street. He died in a Thai camp on July 20, 1943.

Another, Phil Freeman, perished in the notorious Sandakan camp, now in Malaysia, just a few months before the war finished, on April 3, 1945.

These soldiers, the 10 other casualties and the survivors, are the men the Haverhill Family History Group and the Royal British Legion will commemorate with a guided walk around the town's cemetery.

The walk will take place on Sunday, August 16 at 3pm. It will mark the 70th anniversary of Victory in Japan (VJ) day, which is celebrated in Britain on August 15 and marks the end of the Second World War.

The group is also planning to display memorabilia, photos and posters at the town's Arts Centre for the month from August 3.

Secretary of the Family History Society Charmian Thompson has been researching the story of the 18th Division, which was made up of East Anglian regiments. It included the 5th battalion of the Suffolk Regiment, nicknamed the "Haverhill Mob".

The division arrived in Singapore in January 1942, after initially being trained to go to the Middle East. Singapore fell on February 15, and many Haverhill men spent the next three years as prisoners.

COURT

Burglar ordered to hand over his assets

COURT REPORTER

@CambridgeNewsUK

A MAN involved in burgling nearly 40 homes across three counties has been ordered by a judge to hand over his remaining assets.

Traian Vasiluta, 24, amassed tens of thousands of pounds in cash from his crimes but now has just £7,318 left, Ipswich Crown Court heard last week.

Vasiluta was jailed for seven years and four months back in November after he pleaded guilty to conspiracy to burgle.

Among the properties targeted were homes in Brookfields Close, Newmarket, Albert Road in Stow-Cum-Quy and Jay Close and Redshank Close in Haverhill.

Vasiluta, of Martin Road, Ipswich, was one of a gang of three men gang who used home-made tools to smash open windows and patio doors which would normally be considered resistant to attack.

Raids at homes across Suffolk, Norfolk and Cambridgeshire resulted in the theft of not only jewellery and electrical goods being stolen but also duvets, kitchen utensils and food.

Police linked the men to their crimes thanks to photos they had taken of each other on mobile phones at the scenes.

Distinctive prints made by trainers worn by the burglars also helped identify them.

The hearing, which took place last Friday, was told specialist financial investigators had established Vasiluta's benefit from the 38 burglaries which he admitted was £70,194.

Recorder Ian Evans ordered Vasiluta to hand over his last remaining £7,318 within the next four months.

He explained failure to comply with that deadline would result in a further four months imprisonment.

When Vasiluta and his two co-offenders were sentenced, the court heard that Vasiluta was detained when police stopped a car in Ipswich and discovered that he had a window smashing device on a cord around his neck.

It was also discovered that he was in possession of stolen property.

A TEENAGER willing to go the "extra mile" has been crowned Haverhill's first Apprentice of the Year.

Madeline O'Mahoney of Fiscale Ltd, was presented with a trophy and an iPad mini in recognition for her "drive and willingness to go the extra mile".

Organised by ONE Haverhill and sponsored by Sanofi, the awards coincided with the announcement that more than 100 new apprenticeships have been created in Haverhill.

Madeline, 19, said: "I am delighted to receive the award. I am so shocked – I just didn't expect to win."

"I am so happy Fiscale also won Apprenticeship Employer of the Year because they really recognise and reward your hard work and make me feel I am really making a difference."

Prizes were awarded in five categories: Apprentice of the Year, Apprenticeship Employer of the Year, Overcoming Adversity, Apprentice Champion of the Year, and the Highly Commended judges' award.

Haverhill Town Council's Emma Conroy scooped the triple joy of Apprentice Champion of the Year and runner up for Apprentice of the Year and Overcoming Adversity.

The judges said that Emma, who returned from Spain in 2013 with few qualifications, had become "something of a role model for other young people looking for an apprenticeship".

The 19-year-old undertook several Prince's Trust courses and inspired others to follow in her footsteps.

Meanwhile, Richard Scarfe and his employers Culina Logistics won the Highly Commended award while Charlie Harris of Huffers Café in Hollands Road won the overcoming adversity award.

Stephen Bunting, of Fiscale Ltd, who collected the Apprenticeship Employer award for the firm, said: "We are very proud to win this award and proud of our apprentice Madeline."

COMMUNITY

£25k boost for friend scheme

A CHARITY has won £25,000 in a national funding competition – beating 3,000 other community causes.

The Young People of the Year (YOPEY) group, of Stradishall, came top in the Aviva Community Fund challenge for its befriending scheme.

The group is now looking for partners to help expand its scheme which connects secondary schools with care homes.

Tony Gearing, who runs the charity from his home in Bury Road, Stadishall, said: "YOPEY Befriending aims to change the lives of elderly people living with dementia and to give young people life skills.

"£25,000 is the biggest sum given to YOPEY in its 11-year history."

"In Haverhill and surrounding area, we are looking for care homes and schools that want to take part in YOPEY Befriending from this September, but we want to hear from them now.

"We will be asking the care homes to contribute and the schools to fundraise for YOPEY Befriending so that when Aviva's £25,000 runs out, we have the money to continue the project."

YOPEY Befriending has been trialling for two years.

Young people are given dementia training to befriend elderly residents.

After completing the training, the young people are expected to visit their local care home regularly and entertain residents, either by joining in general activities, forming particular friendships or writing their friend's life history.

The scheme then rewards the young people with certificates as they give more hours, with the aim of helping them with university or job applications.

It is hoped that Aviva's £25,000 will enable YOPEY Befriending to expand to five more care homes and 10 schools.

The group is now also looking for older people to volunteer as liaison officers.

Tony said: "We are also looking for active retired people – they could have been teachers or worked or volunteered with young people – to act as our volunteer liaison officers between the homes and the schools."

The charity is also looking for amateur photographers to help cover the befriending process.

For more details, contact (01440) 821654 or email tony@yopey.org.

Day of fun at nursery

MORE than 90 families were treated to a day of activities and food at Haverhill's Dizzy Ducks Nursery.

On Saturday, July 11, children at the nursery enjoyed a bouncy castle, fishing for ducks, jelly play and having a dance at the Shake, Rattle & Bang Disco.

They were also treated to a visit from children's TV character Peppa Pig.

Meanwhile parents indulged in a barbecue and tasted sample dishes created with Michelin-starred chef Jean Christophe Novelli.

Nursery manager Tina Spencer said afterwards: "We are so delighted that so many families could join us.

"The weather was fantastic and the parents and children all commented on how much fun they were having with us."

Understanding Stroke

Sharon Allison, a Solicitor at Ashton KCJ, offers some advice from a legal perspective.

Do you know that stroke is one of the biggest killers in the UK? Stroke kills twice as many women as breast cancer and more men than prostate and testicular cancer combined. People are dying or severely disabled because their stroke is not always treated as an emergency.

According to the Stroke Association, there are approximately 152,000 strokes in the UK every year. This means somebody has a first stroke every five minutes.

Statistics show that about 85% of strokes are caused by a blockage of a blood clot or fatty deposits (also known as ischaemic strokes) and 15% of strokes are caused by bleeding in the brain (known as haemorrhagic strokes). Half of stroke survivors have a disability and the risk of a further stroke is highest in the first month.

Alarmingly, hospital admission data reveals a 25% jump in the number of people aged 20 to 64 suffering a stroke between 2000 and 2014.

Stroke occurs when the blood supply to part of the brain is interrupted and brain cells are starved of oxygen. Stroke is a serious life-threatening but sadly sometimes urgent treatment is not given because its symptoms are not recognised.

The sooner a patient receives stroke treatment, the less damage is likely to happen. For example, studies have shown that if a clot busting drug is given to patients with ischaemic stroke within 3 to 4.5 hours of their first symptoms, 75-80% of these patients will survive stroke without major disability. On the contrary, a delay in diagnosing and treating stroke could result in deaths and or severe disabilities.

Sadly, many claimants long term disabilities could have been prevented. The delay in referring them to a specialist stroke centre for urgent investigations and treatment has caused them life changing disabilities. Whilst we can never put right what has happened, in many of the cases we are able to obtain compensation for loss of earnings and pension, and of course the cost of on-going care.

HEALTH

Launch of first walking scheme

AS SCHEME to get more people walking was launched in Suffolk this week.

The Suffolk Walking Strategy aims to make walking the default choice for journeys of 20 minutes or less on foot.

The organisers say walking can reduce the risk of chronic illnesses, such as heart disease, type two diabetes, respiratory diseases, stroke and some cancers.

Cllr Tony Goldson, Suffolk County Council Cabinet member for health, said: "We are blessed in Suffolk to live in a beautiful county which is a wonderful place in which to enjoy walking, both in urban and rural areas with significant rights of way, footpaths, coastal paths, circular, short and long distance and organised walks, as well as plenty of green spaces and parks."

"The Suffolk Walking Strategy encourages us all to get walking and to make a significant difference to our health, happiness and local environment."

ELEANOR
DICKINSON
@e_dickinsonCN

He added: "The Beat the Street challenge currently running in Lowestoft is a great example of how the whole community can be engaged in walking in a fun and enjoyable way."

Alongside the Walking Strategy, partners in Suffolk are hoping to make 2016/17 the 'Suffolk Year of Walking', building on the success of this year's 'Suffolk Year of Cycling' to develop a countywide celebration of walking and encourage new opportunities.

A county spokesman added: "The case for walking is clear – most people could improve their health through more physical activity and most of us can walk, yet nearly half of us are inactive to the extent that it is harming our health and wellbeing.

"Walking is free and environmentally friendly with significant social, physical and mental health benefits.

"It is ideal for people of all ages and fitness levels who wish to become more active."

As part of the Year of Walking, a partnership made up of local councils, voluntary groups and others is calling on local groups and organisations with an interest in walking to come forward with ideas to get Haverhill people involved.

To find out more, contact Alexandra Blowers on (01473) 260080 or email her at alexandra.blowers@suffolk.gov.uk

CRIME

Tell police what matters to you

SENIOR police figures will be visiting Haverhill this week to discuss with members of the public how the force can save £20 million in the next five years.

Residents will be able to grill temporary Chief Constable Gareth Wilson and Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) Tim Passmore at Market Square on Friday.

The pair will be available to speak to people between 11am and 2pm.

Chief constable Wilson said: "This is the third year we have held these events and they have been a great way for us to get to the heart of local towns and find out what people think."

"Our communities tell us that they are very happy with the policing they receive in Suffolk and this is fantastic."

"It is extremely important for me to protect this quality of service as we work to achieve the savings required by government and I want to know what matters to our communities.

ELEANOR
DICKINSON

"There has been a great deal of organisational change in the constabulary over recent years, and this will continue as we work to make savings of more than £20 million by 2020."

He added: "We are working hard to fully understand the demand we face so that teams can be restructured whilst keeping the county safe, but we also need to listen to the people we serve so that their priorities are addressed and their issues and concerns understood."

"This is a great way for Tim and me to do this. I hope lots of people come along to speak with us and their local team."

The chief constable and PCC will set up base within towns across Suffolk and will be available for members of the public to speak to about any policing issues, including the work underway in the constabulary to achieve savings.

Members of the local Safer Neighbourhood Team and Crime Reduction Officers will also be on hand to offer advice from 10.30am until 2.30pm.

Mr Passmore said: "Public engagement is a crucial element of my role and I thoroughly enjoy these opportunities to get out to talk directly to people about the policing service they receive."

"I represent the views of the public and this is a great chance to discuss any aspect of policing."

"The On Tour events provide a wonderful opportunity to find out precisely what the local issues and concerns are."

Region hit by floods after storm

THIS striking image of a lightning-seared sky was taken as storms hit the region last week.

Torrential rain and hailstones the size of marbles pounded the Cambridgeshire and Suffolk region during the early hours on Friday.

An estimated 54mm of rain fell in just a few hours, according to Cambridge University's computer laboratory.

A major incident was declared at Addenbrooke's, which had to cancel planned surgery until Tuesday.

The surgery was also closed to major trauma cases, because floodwater got into areas where theatre equipment is sterilised.

Drivers caught failing drug tests

NEARLY 200 motorists were caught drink driving in Norfolk and Suffolk last month while 26 drivers failed roadside drug tests.

Police stopped 2,122 motorists during a month-long summer crackdown on drink and drug driving.

During the June campaign a total of 194 motorists provided positive breath tests – 116 in Suffolk and 78 in Norfolk – while 23 in Suffolk and three people in Norfolk failed roadside drug tests.

In last year's summer campaign 145 in Suffolk and 143 people in Norfolk provided positive tests.

Chief Inspector Chris Spinks, head of Roads Policing in Norfolk and Suffolk, said the targeting of drug drivers had been a key focus of this year's campaign.

He said: "This summer was the first campaign where we have used the new drug testing kits to detect cocaine and cannabis. These kits, along with the standard breathalysers, mean we are better equipped than ever to detect and take dangerous motorists off our roads."

Anyone convicted of drink driving faces losing their licence, a fine and possibly a jail term.

CELEBRATION: Resident Jean Heath cuts a special cake at the opening of Cleves Place care home

New care home opens in town

ELDERLY residents celebrated the official opening of their new home in Haverhill last week.

Pensioners and staff cut into a large cake to mark the opening of Cleves Place care home in Millfields Way.

Two of the care home's residents, Nancy Brown and Gene Blackburn, helped cut the ribbon alongside the Mayor of Haverhill, Cllr Betty McLatchy and members of the community.

Sharlene van Tonder, Cleves Place home manager, said: "The official opening event of Cleves Place and the Club is something we have all been looking forward to

ELEANOR
DICKINSON
@e_dickinsonCN

since residents first moved in. It was a really special occasion and we're delighted that we could share the celebrations with so many local people."

She added: "We're really pleased that Cleves Place and the Club have quickly become established in the Haverhill community and we only hope to build on this further."

"We're looking forward to an exciting future with a range of events, activities and services which will not only support the needs of our residents and club members, but the wider community too."

Cleves Place provides nursing, residential and dementia care for up to 60 residents.

The development also includes the Cleves Club which provides flexible day care services for older people living in their own homes, enabling them to keep active, meet new people and maintain their independence for longer.

Quench your thirst

JUDE CLARKE

If you're thirsting for a bit of immersive music this summer, then the Dowsing Sound Collective's latest performance might fit the bill.

Aptly named, Quench is a pair of performances taking place on the same night (at a family-friendly 5.30pm and a more grown-up 8.30pm), in which "Cambridge's largest band" (an impressive 120 singers and between five and 15 instrumentalists) is stripping things back for an unplugged gig.

Taking advantage of the fabulous acoustics (and glorious surroundings) of St John's College Chapel, the collective will apparently be taking a subtler-than-usual approach, really paring back and getting under the skin of tracks by the usual eclectic range of artists: from Alabamba Shakes and Champs to Vampire Weekend and Elbow.

Since they formed in Cambridge in 2010 they've got loads of sell-out performances under their belt – from our own Corn Exchange to London's Union Chapel, and have worked with some top names including Basement Jaxx and local legend Boo Hewardine.

People who've seen one of their shows (including me – I'm biased though: my sister sings with them) use words like "euphoric", "sublime" and "tantalising".

If you still need persuading, a percentage of gig profits will go to the Dosoco Foundation, which supports community music-related projects.

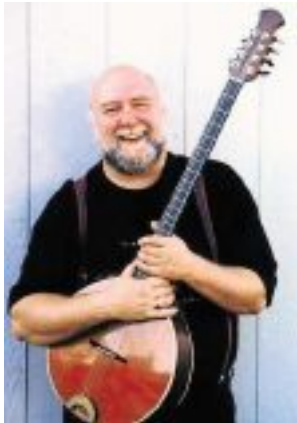

So cool down and slake your musical thirst this Saturday with this quirky and inspirational bunch.

Dowsing Sound Collective: Quench, St John's College Chapel, Saturday, July 25, 5.30pm and 8.30pm. Tickets £16.50/£8.50 from thedowsingsoundcollective.com/quench.

MUSIC

Cambridge Folk Festival

ACTS: Brian McNeill, top, and Jim Moray. Above: The Willows

Cambridge Folk Festival affectionately known as 'the folkie' is now almost upon us. If you're heading there next weekend, whether to dip in and then return to the comfort of your own bed, or to immerse yourself in the whole experience, tents and all, here are some picks that might help you plan your visit.

THE BIG-NAME ACTS: If you like to watch the stars, then you're in luck this year. From Joan Baez – probably the biggest name in US contemporary folk – to Joan Armatrading (three-time Grammy nominee, twice BRIT best female artist nominated for her acoustic bluesy-rock career which spans more than 40 years), to ex-Dr Feelgood guitarist and now star of his own documentary Wilko Johnson, the festival has once again pulled in the big names.

THE FOLK PURISTS: Veterans like Peggy Seeger (who played the very first Cambridge Folk Festival back in 1965) join the likes of Northumbrian sisters The Unthanks, Scottish "acid-croft" act Shoglenifty and Cambridge's own The Willows among many many other acts keeping the torch of folk music, in its many incarnations, alive at the festival this year.

THE FESTIVAL FAVOURITES: Acts like Jim Moray's brilliant Silent Ceilidh (keeping it folk for the festival's take on the popular 'silent disco' phenomenon), Martin Simpson, Brian McNeill are much-loved acts that have visited several times over the years.

THE YOUNG HOPES: Check out the Club Tent Showcases for the five artists specially selected as those most likely to go on to great things in the future. Which of Sam Kelly Trio, Kim Churchill, Stick In The Wheel, Ange Hardy and Mishaped Pearls do you think will go all the way?

The Den is another platform for young and up-and-coming artists, so why not try a bit of star-spotting during your time at the festival?

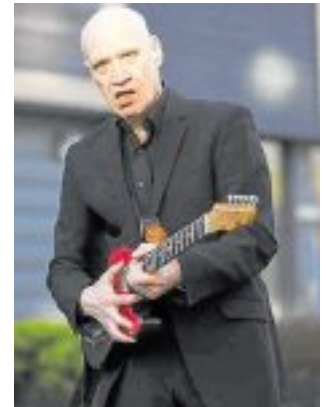

THE PARTY-STARTERS: Each year there is an act that promises to bring sing-alongs, good times and a raucous party atmosphere. If that sounds like your thing, then make sure you don't miss Scottish warblers The Proclaimers, who are second-top on the Friday night bill.

All together now: "Da la ta da..."

Cambridge Folk Festival, 30th July - 2nd August, Cherry Hinton Hall, Cambridge. For information and tickets, visit: www.cambridgelifetrust.co.uk/folk-festival

● We have a treat in store for all blues fans tomorrow when US legend LIL' JIMMY REED comes to Haverhill. From shotgun shack to festival main stage, the prodigious talents of Lil' Jimmy have taken him a long way from the Mississippi river and he is now one of the last surviving performers of the classic Louisiana down-home blues era. After taking several countries in Europe by storm over the past 12 months, with many sell-out shows and standing ovations, Lil' Jimmy has recently been inducted into the prestigious Blues Hall of Fame. We're rockin' from 8pm.

September launch for New Fiat 500

EXACTLY eight years and more than 1.5 million units since it was launched (on the 50th anniversary of the original car's launch) the successful and iconic Fiat 500 makes way for its successor: the New Fiat 500.

Retaining the unmistakable look that has made it a global best-seller, the new Fiat 500 hasn't grown in size but instead has grown in maturity with advanced technologies, improved efficiency, even more customisation ideas and a Centro Stile Fiat-refreshed exterior and interior.

No fewer than 1,800 changes have been made to produce the new Fiat 500, all designed to enhance the ownership experience and refine its inimitable style. The most changes can be found at the front: the new 500 retains the "face" of its predecessors with headlights which are still circular in shape but which adopt innovative polyelliptical modules for improved night vision and extra safety. These clusters integrate the dipped-beam headlamps and turn signals, while lower light cluster integrates the main beam headlights and LED daytime running lights, which adopt the circular profile of the lamp to graphically reproduces the zeros of the Fiat 500 logo. The bonnet retains its distinctive, traditional clamshell form, another nod to its legendary predecessor, while the trapezoidal nose gets more pronounced ribbing and the auxiliary air vent is now fed via a three-dimensional grille (with chrome-effect buttons on the Lounge version) flanked by chrome brightwork to give the New Fiat 500 stronger visual presence.

The new Fiat 500 will go on sale in the UK in early September with prices starting at £10,890.

"After the very successful cooperation with LEGO Technic on the Unimog-project, Mercedes-Benz Trucks subsequently considered a follow-up project," says Andreas Gruber, Marketing Manager at Mercedes-Benz Trucks.

TOP SKILL SET: German drivers come out best of European driving ability

Respect for German driving in new poll

LIKE them or not, it seems British drivers think Germans are the best in Europe when it comes to getting behind the wheel.

More than a third of drivers (37 per cent) said they thought German drivers were the best on the continent in a new survey from breakdown cover provider, Green Flag.

The same proportion of the 2,000 people who were questioned about their experiences driving in Germany, Spain, France, Italy and Belgium, said Italian drivers are the worst wheelersmiths.

Surprisingly, though, only 39 per cent of the surveyed Brits thought Italians were most likely to ignore the laws of the road, while 32 per cent said Germans were the least prone to rule-breaking.

France was given the nod as the best place among the five countries to go for a driving holiday. Almost half (46 per cent) of the survey sample said it would be their first choice for a break behind the wheel. Belgium was bottom of the pile.

THE SUBARU XV: £21,995 tag

Subaru boosts spec and chassis of XV

SUBARU has announced a raft of modifications and upgrades to the interior and chassis of its XV compact crossover.

The interior changes result in further significant improvements to cabin refinement and ambience, and include an all new factory-fit infotainment system first seen on the new Outback earlier this year.

The upgraded Subaru XV goes on sale this month. The price remains the same at £21,995. Find out more at cambridgesubaru.co.uk or call (01223) 633704.

First new Civic Type R rolls out of Honda's Swindon factory

THE first production models of Honda's hot Civic Type-R have rolled off its Swindon production line in a special ceremony celebrating the event.

Appropriately finished in red, white and blue, the first three cars began their long journey to dealerships across Europe, and were joined by production staff, management and current Honda Yuasa BTCC driver Matt Neal.

These latest Civics follow millions of others that have been built at the UK plant over the last 20 years. The facility will be the only one in the world producing the 167mph hot hatch.

Soichiro Takizawa, managing director at Honda of the UK Manufacturing (HUM) commented: "The new Civic Type-R is an imperative model for Honda, representing our racing spirit and demonstrating our commitment to innovation and passion. We are extremely proud to be the only manufacturer of the Civic Type-R in the world. ROAD TEST SPECIAL

A 'Ferrari California' for £35K? What's the catch?

WARWICK EVANS

WHICH of these two cars is the £153,176 Ferrari California and which is the DNA Automotive 'West Coast' £35,000 lookalike? I'll tell you later, but if you want the Ferrari, you'll to work very hard and save up. When you get to £35,000 you could, instead, buy a 2000 Mercedes 500SL Roadster, as pictured below.

Then, remove all the body panels, except the boot and the hard top. Buy glass fibre Ferrari California look alike panels from DNA, bolt them onto the Mercedes frame and, hey presto you have a look alike Ferrari. It is very clever. It is only when you put the two cars side by side do you see the differences.

DNA retain all the Mercedes running gear, engine, gearbox, interior, folding hood versus louver everything. So, when your car is finished you have the pneumatic rising suspension, parking sensors, flappy paddle gear controllers, heated seats leather interior, folding roof, everything. Everything, except, of course, the prancing horse badge.

How do they do it? Well DNA very subtly change the aspect ratio, proportion and size of the 'look alike' panels so as they look similar to a Ferrari, but not identical.

It is all smoke and mirrors. The give away is the roof. The Ferrari screen glass sweeps back over the 'A' frame. The DNA front screen swoops back into the Mercedes 'A' frame' and the join line is painted out black to make it look like the Ferrari. Looking at the 'West Coast' at the Kit Car Show it was very impressive.

FERRARI: Or not Ferrari – can you tell the difference?

Looking at the pictures side by side, not so.

How do they get away with it? How do DNA manage to do this without the Ferrari legal boys and girls dropping in on them like a ton of bricks. DNA say they are making quality kit cars, are not trading off the Ferrari name (at the show all the badges and branding were covered up with gaffa tape). The badges are not supplied by DNA, the customer has to buy and fit their own. However, there are depressions in the mouldings for the badges.

Had I designed the Ferrari 'California' I would be spitting tacks at this look alike flattery. I could not reach Flavio Manzoni (who designed the California) to ask his opinion. I suspect I would have learned the Italian for "spitting tacks". But, maybe not.

Does all this matter? The guys who buy look alike Ferrari California's or Porsche RSK Spyders (like me) are unlikely to be able to afford £150k for the Ferrari or the £1.9m for the Sterling Moss Spyder sold last month. We are not likely to be a Ferrari California or Porsche Spyder customer. The lookalikes are unlikely to harm the Ferrari brand (providing they are well made and finished). I remember some guy "up north" had built a stretch limo version of a F360. I think he may have gotten a good kicking from the Prancing Horse.

All DNA are doing is what kit car makers have been doing for years, only a bit more ambitious. Taking the body off a VW Beetle and using the floor tray to plant a plastic Porsche RSK body onto it or replacing a Mercedes 500SL panels with plastic 'California' panels are the same. The big difference is Bruce Mayers – who conceived the Beech Buggy in California in the 1960's – created, styled, designed and engineered his own original body, now much copied. DNA and the like do not do this. Pity.

The guys at DNA are very talented. Their charismatic owner Brian Hale has spent a lot of dosh on bucks, patterns, tools, mouldings, engineering and market communications. It is just a pity these talents are not used to make his own designed car. Lotus, Marcos and TVR all started as kit car makers.

It is time the kit car industry took a step forward and started developing, for example, open source car kits delivered to your home for self-assembly. The design, developed and testing of a complete kit to pass the safety legislation would be costly – the same as developing a 'conventional' car. Once achieved, the kits can be shipped to your home, you screw them together and then have them tested. Or, perhaps IKEA will do it. Don't laugh, it's well within their capabilities.

Oh, by the way, the car on the left is the Ferrari.

Easter Fjordland Cruise

Sailing from Tilbury on board Magellan, departing 26 March 2016

This wonderful springtime cruise takes in the splendours of glorious Western Norway awakening from its winter slumber, and includes visits to two of the most famous fjords, with their picture-book villages and pristine hinterland, as well as historic Bergen, ancient Hanseatic trading city and 'Fjordland Gateway'.

After an Easter Sunday spent at sea, Magellan cruises into majestic Handangerfjord, where sheer mountainsides plunge into the still waters, and where tiny Ulvik is an oasis of tranquility, far removed from our hectic world. Another day sees you navigate mighty Sognefjord, the world's largest and deepest, and home to remote Flåm, where you might board the world famous Flåmsbana Mountain Railway. In Bergen, birthplace of composer Edvard Grieg, stroll through the ancient Bryggen area and perhaps take in the view from the summit of 'Mount' Fløyen - another highlight of a wonderful voyage.

Our price includes

- Cruise the length of stunning Hardangerfjord over 100kms into the Norwegian interior
- Take a shore excursion into the pristine hinterland
- Discover Sognefjord, the world's longest and deepest
- Take the optional excursion on the world famous Flåmsbana Mountain Railway
- Visit Bergen, ancient trading city and 'Gateway to the Fjords'
- Traditional British & International cuisine, stylish entertainment, guest lecturers & on-board leisure facilities
- Six nights' full board accommodation on board Magellan

Sailing from Tilbury on board Magellan, departing 24 June 2016

This glorious midsummer cruise not only brings the opportunity to discover and explore the stunning land of fire and ice and its wonderful, fascinating capital Reykjavik, but also to call at the beautiful, remote island outposts of Orkney, the Faroes and Shetland.

Sailing north under hopefully sunny skies, Magellan calls first in the rugged Orkney capital Kirkwall, gateway to a land of ancient legend. A wonderful five-day circumnavigation of Iceland's fascinating, rugged coast includes a cruise around 'new' island Surtsey, a full day in delightful Reykjavik, one of the world's most surprising capitals, Ísafjörður, gateway to magical West Iceland, from which Norse sailors set out to discover the New World, Akureyri, with its botanical garden, and breath-taking Seydisfjörður's stunning natural harbour, before the fascinating voyage is completed with calls in tiny, Toytown-like Faroes capital Tórshavn and Shetland's ancient Viking stronghold Lerwick.

Our price includes

- Rugged Kirkwall is gateway to a fascinating island landscape
- Cruise off Heimaey
- Enjoy the delights of Reykjavik
- Take a dip in the Blue Lagoon
- Discover West Iceland, home to Eirik the Red

CHEERS ALL ROUND: Haverhill under-11s (above) celebrate their Bolders Cup victory, while Linton under-11s (right) rejoice after their league win

Shannon strikes seal Haverhill cup success

IT was honours even for Haverhill and Linton under-11s after the Borders Cup final.

Linton had narrowly beaten Haverhill to the league title, and they faced each other again in the cup final.

When the sides had met in the league earlier in the season, only a few runs separated the two.

Haverhill batted first, and after a slow start, Henry Sidebottom, Max

Egan and Max Meadows accelerated the pace of the innings, and they were helped by George Shannon and Joseph Rinaldi as they rattled up 246 runs.

Joshua Murray and Owen Wilson got Linton off to a flying start with some great strokes, but Meadows did a good job in restricting their run rate.

He picked up a couple of wickets and was well supported by James Freakley, Cameron Scott, Harry White and Sebastian Gurteen.

But it was Shannon who earned the man-of-the-match award as his five wickets in three overs put the brakes on Linton as they finished on 221.

So Haverhill, who were helped by the fielding of Peter Johnston, Finn Dittum and Ollie Gardiner, were celebrating victory in the cup to leave honours shared after Linton's league success.

Football

Longley goal is all Rovers need

OWEN Longley got the only goal of the game as Haverhill Rovers defeated Cambridge City 1-0 in their second pre-season friendly.

Last Saturday's match at the New Croft saw Rovers go in front on 13 minutes, with Charlie Sigler pulling the ball back for Longley to fire past City keeper Zac Barrett.

Rovers were then on the defensive, with Charlie Day firing over and Adam Murray's header hitting the bar, but the home side held firm to take the win.

However, they were unable to follow that up when they lost 3-0 to Bury Town on Tuesday.

Rovers had a goal disallowed in the first half, while Sigler and player-manager Michael Shinn went close after the break.
